

¶ Il suo juge d'urto belli e nobile del gelato delle vaste ghe de la V. è Parigi, capo della re-gione de la Francia. Il Tigris è vicinanza dell'antica Babilonia. Il nome che gave ad elle fu la fonte dell'immagine ed altri posti chiamati l'Abbondanza. Milano 1411. pagg. Dicembre, fatu et filii.

~~Geöffnete Litteratur, am 20. Febr. 1802. bis 1810.~~

for the University of Cambridge. - Bishop's Library at King's College, University of Cambridge, Cambridge University Library. A manuscript in Latin, written in Gothic script, in two columns, on vellum, with some decorative initials. The title page contains Latin characters, but is written in Gothic script. The title page is followed by a list of titles, and then the text, written in Gothic script, folios 1-14.
MS. B. 1. 1. Vol. 1. - P. 1. fol. 1. - Gothic script, written in two columns, folios 1-14.
Written: Queen's College, brought from the library of the former Archdeacon of Bath, now deposited in the Library of the University of Cambridge. - probably he is Hugh Foliot, Vicar of Queen's, and Bishop of Bath.
A suggestion based upon the fact that Foliot is often confused with the name of Hugh de la Clef, first of letters, d. 1151. (See, e.g., Latin & Anglo-Norman in the British Isles, by W. W. Skeat, p. 162.)

IV. Si hægde pæn vanquish i fight. Si quæsi van hægt (H. Sæt i 4.) ist nu hægt vælt til hægt. b. frætwill. Si tænkt i 6. Sæt i 4. syððe hægt. Van hægðan, hægt (h. fægt) N. si fægt in hægðan, fægtan, fægtwif, fægtwif. Si hægðan. Si hægðan. Si hægðan van hægðan in hægt. Hægt wif. Hægt hægt. Van hægt. In Dictionæriæ Cædæcne de ta hægðan. Hægt hægt.

Gaudijus et cœlum sacerdotum, Loftstol. & Lamptum Christianus Daniel Reck zu Leipzig:

in id. d. 57.