LESSON ONE

IN THE SIXTH CLASS

The summer holidays are over and we are at school again. We are in the sixth class now. There are thirty-seven pupils in our class, twenty girls and seventeen boys. We are all pioneers. We have a new pupil in our class, a girl from Elva. Her name is Hilda Rink. She is thirteen years old.

We come to school before eight o'clock every morning. At eight the bell rings and lessons begin in all the classes.

We have six lessons on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. On Wednesday and Saturday we have only five. There is a short break after each lesson. After the third lesson we have a long break. Then we go to the lunchroom, where we have our lunch. We drink milk and eat bread-and-butter.

There is a big Pioneers' Room at our school. There we can play games and sing songs. This year our school has two new workrooms where we can make many things. We all like the lessons in the workrooms very much.

LESSON SEVEN

FLOWERS IN WINTER

I

Tilda has no mother and no father. She works for a rich farmer. She must work hard all day. She must sweep the floors, wash the clothes and milk the cows.

Tilda is milking the cow

The farmer's daughter does not like Tilda and often beats her. One day in January the farmer's daughter calls Tilda to her room and says: "I want some pretty flowers. Go to the forest and bring me some flowers."

Tilda is very much surprised.

"There are no flowers in the forest in winter," she says. "There is deep snow everywhere. I shall not go."

"Then I shall beat you," says the farmer's daughter.

So Tilda goes to the forest. Will she come back? It is very cold and the snow is deep. She goes on and on. Sometimes she falls down. At last she comes to a hill. There she sees some big stones and on each stone an old man is sitting. There are twelve men and they all look at her. When Tilda comes nearer, she greets them.

LESSON TWELVE

DICK WITTINGTON AND HIS CAT

I

The boy is cleaning the window

Dick Wittington lived in London many years ago. He worked for his food in a rich man's house. The man's name was Mr. Fitzwarren. Dick helped the cook in the kitchen. He washed the dishes and cleaned the knives. Dick's bed was in a room under the roof. There were so many rats in the room that Dick was afraid to sleep there. He wanted to get a cat.

One day Dick cleaned the windows of a neighbour's house. The neighbour had two cats. When all the windows were clean, Dick asked the neighbour to give him a cat.

a captain

Now Dick had a cat. It was a big cat and it soon killed all the rats in Dick's room.

two knives

Mr. Fitzwarren had a ship that sailed from England to other countries. One day the captain of the ship was at Mr. Fitzwarren's house.

"When will the ship sail?" asked Mr. Fitzwarren.

"We shall sail tomorrow morning," answered the captain. "But there are very many rats on the ship. I don't know what to do."

Mr. Fitzwarren called Dick from the kitchen. He asked Dick to give his cat to the captain. The next day the ship sailed away. Dick had no cat now.

LESSON THIRTEEN

DICK WITTINGTON AND HIS CAT

II

The ship sailed on and on. At last it reached a country where the captain wanted to sell some things.

In that country there was a king and he invited the captain to dinner. The captain was very much surprised: there were hundreds of rats in the dining-room. They jumped up on the chairs, and on the sofa, and on the dinner-table. The king did not know what to do: there were rats everywhere.

“Have you no cats?” the captain asked the king.

“What is a cat?” asked the king.

“A cat is a little animal,” explained the captain. “It kills rats and eats them. I shall bring you a cat from my ship. It will kill all the rats here.”

The king was glad to get a cat. He thanked the captain. Soon the cat killed all the rats in the king’s house. The king did not want to give the cat back to the captain.

“What shall I give you for this little animal?” asked the king. “Will you take this bag of gold?” The captain thanked the king. Soon the ship sailed back to England.

When the ship reached London, Dick Wittington received a bag of gold for his cat.

LESSON EIGHTEEN

A LETTER

I am writing a letter

Tallinn,
January 20, 1963.

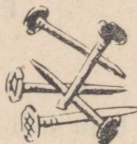

Dear Endel,

I got your letter a week ago. I am glad that you are well and can go to school again. How many days were you absent from school? Who will help you to catch up now?

Last month I wrote to you about our basketball match with the seventh class. Now I want to tell you about our new workrooms. In the workroom for the boys there are hammers, nails,

a hammer

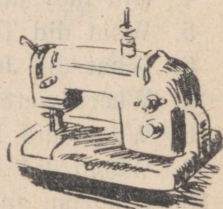

nails

a saw

saws and other tools. For the girls there is a workroom on the second floor of the schoolhouse. There are two new sewing-machines there now.

The lessons in the workrooms are very interesting. All the boys and girls like them very much. We go there every Thursday.

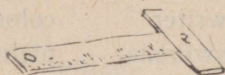

a sewing-machine

Last week the boys of our class began to make bookshelves. Before that we made rulers.

a bookshelf

a ruler

Our bookshelves must be ready next week. The girls are making aprons this month.

an apron

Have you many tools in your workroom? Do you like to work with a saw? What can the boys of your class make?

Please write soon.

Your friend Lembit

LESSON NINETEEN

The monkey is climbing up
the tree

IN A MONKEY'S CAGE

There was a big monkey in a cage at the Zoo. It lived there for many years. All the children who came to the Zoo liked the monkey very much. It always made them laugh.

But one winter the monkey died. Now there were no children in front of the cage.

"When we had that big monkey," said the director of the Zoo, "very many children came here every day. They liked the monkey because it made them laugh. Now they do not come to the Zoo. What shall we do?"

Then, one day, a young man came to the Zoo. His name was John Smith.

"I have no work," he said to the director. "Can you give me work at the Zoo?"

The director asked him to take the monkey's place for two months. "Then we shall get a big monkey from Africa," the director explained to John Smith.

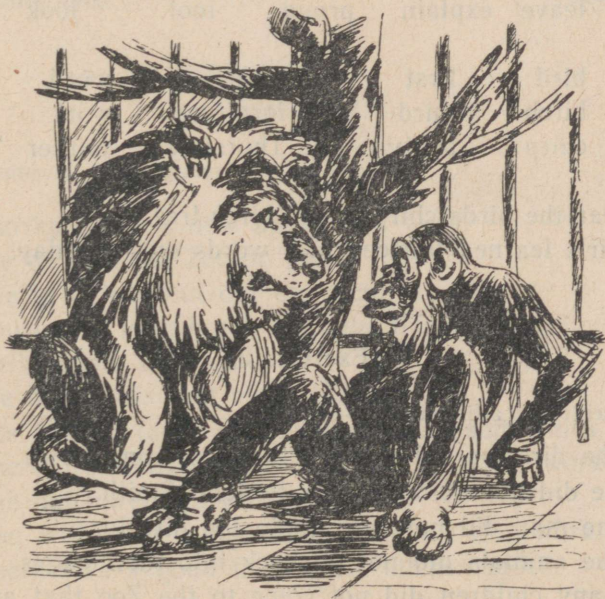

a lion

Every morning John put on a monkey's skin and went into the cage. All day he climbed up and down in the cage and made the children laugh. Now many children came to the Zoo again.

One day John climbed very high and fell into the next cage. There was a lion in that cage. John was very much afraid of the lion. "It will kill me and eat me," said John.

When the lion was near John, he heard the words: "I shall not kill you. I am not a lion. I am a man in a lion's skin."

LESSON TWENTY-SIX

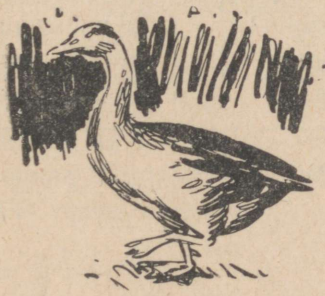

THE UGLY DUCKLING

I

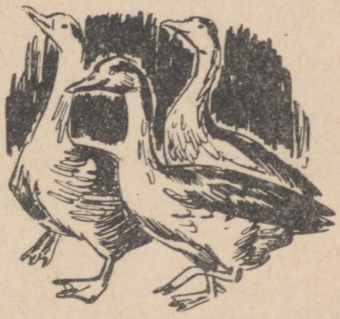

There were many hens, ducks and geese in the farmyard. One old duck had a big family of ducklings. They were nice little ducklings and could swim quite well already. The old duck was proud of her children. But one of the ducklings was big and ugly. It did not look like its brothers and sisters. The hens, ducks and geese in the farmyard always beat the poor ugly duckling. One day the old duck got angry and said, "Why do you beat him?"

"He is so ugly," they said.

In August the ugly duckling ran away because he was very unhappy in the farmyard. He swam across the lake and went into the wood where nobody could find him. He lived in the wood near the lake until autumn came.

One day when he was looking for food, he saw a little hut in the wood. An old woman lived there with her cat and her hen.

"May I live in the hut with you?" said the duckling to the cat and the hen. "It is so cold in the wood at night."

The cat and the hen asked the duckling many questions before they called him into the hut. The duckling lived in the hut all winter. Every day the old woman gave him some bread and he was not hungry.

They were waiting near the gate of the park. A man was standing there. Each child gave him a ticket and then passed through the gate.

When Sandy and May wanted to go in too, the man at the gate said, "What are you doing here? Go away! This is a party for white children."

"But we have tickets," said Sandy.

"The party is for white children only," said the man again. May began to cry. "I shall not see the merry-go-round," she said.

On the way home Sandy and May met many Negro boys and girls who were going to the park.

"Don't go there," said Sandy. "The party is for white children only."

STELLA FINDS A FOUNTAIN-PEN

Two friends, Stella and Edith, are in a tram. Stella sees a fountain-pen on the floor. She picks it up and puts it in her bag. Edith sees this and says, "Is it your fountain-pen?"

"No, it is not," says Stella. "But I want to keep it. I have no fountain-pen."

"You must not keep it, you must give it to the conductor," says Edith. But Stella does not do that.

The tram stops and the girls get off. Stella says good-bye to Edith and hurries home. Before she reaches her home, it begins to rain. Then Stella remembers that she took her umbrella with her that morning. But where is it now? She suddenly remembers that she put it on the seat when she picked up the fountain-pen in the tram.

IN THE DESERT

I

An Englishman was in the desert with some Arabs. The Englishman was the sheikh's guest. There were nineteen men with the sheikh.

The Englishman had a bag of money with him. The bag was in his tent at night. Every morning he opened his bag. The money was there. But when he looked into the bag on the ninth morning, the bag was empty.

The Englishman went to the sheikh. "I am your guest," he said. "I must tell you that there is a thief among your men." Then he showed the sheikh the empty bag.

The sheikh was silent for a few minutes. Then he said, "Do not tell the men about it. Everything will be all right. Before we go on, I shall find the thief and you will get your money."

II

After dinner the sheikh called his men and said, "There is a thief in our camp. We must find the thief before we leave this place."

The men were silent. Then the sheikh said, "You all know my white donkey. It is a very clever animal, it can find a thief. The donkey is in my tent. Now each man must go into the tent alone and pull the donkey's tail. If a thief pulls the donkey's tail, it will bray. If the man is not a thief, the donkey will not bray."

The first man went into the tent. The other men listened, but the donkey was silent. The next man went in, but the donkey did not bray. They all went in one after the other; each man pulled the donkey's tail, but the animal was silent.

"Now," said the sheikh to the men, who were standing in front of the tent, "show me your hands." The men put out their hands. The sheikh looked at their hands closely. When he came to the twelfth man, he cried, "You are the thief! Give back my guest's money or I shall kill you."

The man went to a big stone not far from the camp and soon came back with the Englishman's money. The sheikh beat the thief and gave the money back to the Englishman.

III

The Englishman asked the sheikh, "How do you know that this man is the thief?"

The sheikh laughed and said, "My donkey never brays. I put some salve on the donkey's tail. It has a very strong smell. All the men pulled the donkey's tail, only the thief did not. His hand did not smell of that salve."

knife — knives wife — wives leaf — leaves

4. Erinevad vormid ainsuses ja mitmuses on nimisõnadel woman ['wʊmən] — women ['wɪmɪn]

goose [guːs] — geese [giːs]

Nimisõna omastav kääne eessõnaga of

Kui nimisõna tähistab a s j u, moodustatakse omastav kääne eessõna of abil:

the end of the corridor koridori lõpp
the numbers of the pages lehekülgede numbrid
the windows of the classroom klassi aknad

Võrrelge: my friend's name minu sõbra nimi
the name of the town linna nimi

ASESÕNA

Umbmäärased asesõnad some, any, no

1. Umbmäärase arvu või hulga väljendamiseks tarvitatakse nimisõnaga asesõnu some ja any.
2. Some tarvitatakse jaatavas lauses:
Jane bought some apples. Jane ostis õunu.
Mother bought some sugar. Ema ostis suhkrut.

THREE LITTLE KITTENS

In moderato time

mf legato

The piano introduction consists of two staves in G major and 6/8 time. The right hand features a melodic line with eighth and sixteenth notes, while the left hand provides a steady accompaniment of eighth notes.

My three little kittens Put on their mittens To

The vocal line begins with a quarter rest followed by a quarter note, then continues with a melody of eighth and quarter notes. The piano accompaniment follows the vocal line with a similar rhythmic pattern.

eat some apple - pie Purr, purr, purr, purr,

The vocal line continues with the melody for 'eat some apple - pie' and then repeats the word 'Purr' four times with a rising inflection. The piano accompaniment provides harmonic support with chords and moving lines.

| 1. My three little kittens
Put on their mittens
To eat some apple-pie.
Purr, purr, purr, purr,
Purr, purr, purr. | 2. My three little kittens,
They lost their mittens;
And then began to cry.
Meow, meow, meow, meow,
Meow, meow, meow. |
| 3. Where are your new mittens,
My little kittens?
Now you shall have no pie.
Meow, meow, meow, meow,
Meow, meow, meow. | 4. My three little kittens
Then found their mittens;
And merrily they purred,
Purr, purr, purr, purr,
Purr, purr, purr. |
| 5. Put on your new mittens,
My little kittens!
And you shall have some pie.
Purr, purr, purr, purr,
Purr, purr, purr. | |
